

Student Responses to Microsoft Excel Course – Feedback Report – June 2007

What surprised you about this week's exercises?

 Find	1. That the redo/undo can hold up to 16 items!	Fri, 7/6/07 4:05 PM
 Find	2. Brian's voice being on the website, it was very cool.	Thu, 7/5/07 5:53 PM
 Find	3. I was surprised to see that it was harder than I expected.	Tue, 7/3/07 12:16 PM
 Find	4. I was surprised at how quickly I was able to understand Excel.	Tue, 7/3/07 9:57 AM
 Find	5. How user-friendly it was. Hearing your voice giving instructions - great	Tue, 7/3/07 8:44 AM
 Find	6. How simple and easy the steps were to follow.	Tue, 7/3/07 5:57 AM

What did you find most helpful?

 Find	1. The checkpoint it was great to be able to use the skills learned.	Fri, 7/6/07 4:05 PM
 Find	2. Brian's voice was the most helpful. His dulcet tones paved the way for success.	Thu, 7/5/07 5:54 PM
 Find	3. The tutorials with voice...I felt like I was not alone.	Tue, 7/3/07 12:17 PM
 Find	4. The clear instructions and examples.	Tue, 7/3/07 9:57 AM
 Find	5. Your voice giving instructions Opportunity to practise	Tue, 7/3/07 8:44 AM
 Find	6. AutFill & autofit as I forgot what they did.	Tue, 7/3/07 5:57 AM

What did you find least helpful?

 Find	1. Nothing it was all a good refresher	Fri, 7/6/07 4:06 PM
 Find	2. The click where I click feature was good, but it lacked the true interactivity that the actual program would have and unlike the program it limited my speed.	Thu, 7/5/07 5:55 PM
 Find	3. The Checkpoint....I felt that it was specific to the courseware and did not match any of the tutorials.	Tue, 7/3/07 12:17 PM
 Find	4. The quiz.	Tue, 7/3/07 9:57 AM
 Find	5. It was not always clear to me when I supposed to do something.	Tue, 7/3/07 8:45 AM
 Find	6. Nothing.	Tue, 7/3/07 5:57 AM

Additional Comments:

 Find	1. Nice work Brian! You are a very talented techie guy. The layout and format of this on-line course is excellent! I have always hated on line...but I have to be honest if all the course were laid out like this I would be tempted to take one!!! Well done	Fri, 7/6/07 4:09 PM
 Find	2. The first section where it says to click of the arrow besides the redo feature let me pass when I clicked repeatedly instead of correctly. Other than that which wasn't a big deal at all, this was a very interesting and innovative idea which allowed me to learn more about excel then I had known before. Great job Brian!	Thu, 7/5/07 5:56 PM
 Find	3. Great job Brian! You should really continue in this path! For a first time, on-line user...I was impressed with the organization and personalization that can be presented in an on-line format!	Tue, 7/3/07 12:19 PM
 Find	4. I really enjoyed this lesson. The instructions were clear and the instructor was available to respond to questions when necessary. The content of this lesson is useful in my own work. Thank you.	Tue, 7/3/07 9:58 AM
 Find	5. I could not open the self quiz. When I clicked on it, the program went back to the autofill feature.	Tue, 7/3/07 8:45 AM
 Find	6. This is a wicked awesome website. The audio and visual display were very easy to follow. Very informative.	Tue, 7/3/07 5:58 AM